Transitive and Intransitive Verbs (!)

Directions: For each of the following sentences, draw a line separating the subject and the predicate. Then, draw the parentheses around any prepositional phrases. Next, indicate any direct object by circling it and any verb by underlining it. If the sentence is transitive, draw a line from the transitive verb with an arrow indicating the direct object.

Remember:

Transitive = has a direct object (the direct object answers WHO or WHAT)

Intransitive = no direct object (NO noun or pronoun after the verb)
